The Mann Center and AEG Live Present Faith No More

Celebrating 75 Years of Live Music in the Park:

July 3 Features History-in-the-Making as Faith No More Returns to Stage

PHILADELPHIA PA – June 22, 2010 – After regrouping in 2009 after a 12-year hiatus, Faith No More performs live at The Mann Center for the Performing Arts on Saturday, July 3 in one of only three east coast tour dates. The band said in an official statement they, "only hope that the experience of playing together again will yield results erratic and unpredictable enough to live up to the legacy of Faith No More."

Faith No More

After years of touring and immense popularity in Europe, rockers Faith No More crashed onto the U.S. rock scene in a frenzy when their third album "The Real Thing" went Platinum. While touring and crafting their status as pathmakers in modern rock, Faith No More was often named a favorite group of mega-rockers Metallica and Guns N Roses. The band received a Grammy nomination for Best Heavy Metal/Hard Rock performance. After 15 years of performing and releasing critically acclaimed albums, Faith No More members confirmed the decision to go their separate ways and pursue their own solo endeavors. In February 2009, the band members including vocalist Mike Patton convened for the first time in 11 years and, as a result of this reunion, mutually decided to reform the band. Shortly following their announcement, they confirmed a string of shows in Europe and have now officially embarked on a new path as a band.

Tickets for this event are $49.50, $35, $25.

This performance begins at 7:30 PM.
